Policy on public lectures and information sessions by the Wild Birds Regulation Unit

1. The Wild Birds Regulation Unit (WBRU) within the Parliamentary Secretariat for Agriculture, Fisheries and Animal Rights may deliver lectures and hold information sessions on issues related to the functions of the Unit and applicable regulations. Such sessions may be organised either independently or in association with any non-governmental organisation or other third parties.
2. Any organisation may participate in these sessions and actively contribute to the content of these lectures and information sessions. Organisations shall set the dates and venues for these joint lectures/information sessions and also invite other speakers irrespective of their affiliation with the participating organisation or association and who may, for the purpose of these lectures, be members of any other organisation.
